

GELO ROSA

elettrodomestici uno

Four dancers and a fridge to talk in an evocative and surrealistic tone about that mysterious relation that ties us up to objects. With their daily presence, even the most apparently unpoetic ones become part of our contemporary affective and symbolic landscape. In this perspective the fridge is a symbol, a fetish, only rubbish or a starting point for extra-ordinary adventure that deals with hope and fear that keeps our emotions almost frozen, like food in a fridge. It's a serious game in which things are thrown out of their supposed inertia to tell us fragments of dreams and stories, places where habits and obviousness are just new occasions. GELO ROSA it's a smile dying on your lips.
